

Post-Pandemic Regulatory Environment Changes in Clinical Trials

October 23rd – 24th, 2023 | COEX at Seoul, Korea (Hybrid format)

Over past years, the COVID19 pandemic catalyzed regulatory environment changes and lead to the enactment of regulatory flexibilities & innovative measures to support development of safe, quality medical products in timely manner. Building upon the AHC's Post-Pandemic Roundtable Dialogue held in 2021 & 2022, this year's workshop will dive deep into the current landscapes and trends in Clinical Trials, with a focus on how they can form part of the "new normal".

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

A 2-day program to explore how pandemic catalyzed the regulatory changes in clinical trials with focus on the use of Decentralized Clinical Trials (DCTs) & Digital Technologies

- COVID19's impact in the global regulatory environments
- Current landscapes, management strategies and future of Decentralized Clinical Trials (DCTs)
- Use of Digital Technologies (Data Science, RWE/RWD, AI) in Clinical Trials
